

SmartCity® Web Revalue Connecting your systems over the web

SmartCity® Web Revalue

SmartCity® Web Revalue provides your cardholders with the ability to load value to a SmartCity® card using a web browser. This is achieved via a secure connection, from credit or debit cards or checking accounts directly to the cardholder's SmartCity® card account. This can be done by the cardholder themselves or by another person – thus facilitating the loading of gift value or the transfer of funds for meals or books for college students.

The Web Revalue System consists of two separate websites:

- The first website is for the credit cardholders, debit cardholders or checking account holders. Here all of the details necessary for crediting a SmartCity® card are captured – the credit, debit card or checking account number, the SmartCity® ISO card number and the purse number. The cardholder also inputs the value they wish to load to the SmartCity® card.
- The second website is for SmartCity® cardholders and allows them to load the value credited to their card. This occurs through a PC equipped with a Smart Card reader and the SmartCity® Internet Reader Server software. The cardholder goes to the SmartCity® Web Revalue website, inserts their card in the reader, and loads the value to their card.

Value can then be spent from the card immediately, in any of the local or off campus SmartCity® locations.
